The Property

Rosewood Cottage is a charming traditional Cotswold stone period cottage peacefully nestled in Willesley, an unspoilt village positioned on the fringe of the famous Westonbirt Arboretum. Constructed of natural stone beneath a stone tiled roof, the cottage has attractive gabled elevations and drip-mould windows finished with lead lattice panes whilst internally the character continues with exposed stone walling.

The accommodation has been extended and offers flexibility with a second reception room offering potential for a ground floor third bedroom. The further ground floor layout includes a large principal reception room at the front complete with a fireplace and wood-burning stove. An inner hallway has a WC off, access to storage and leads to the kitchen which is fitted with a breakfast bar. On the first floor there are two bedrooms and the bathroom which is fitted with a shower over the bath. There is off-road parking to the front of the property in addition to a useful garage. The delightful mature gardens are landscaped into three areas, a patio terrace beside the cottage, a lawn featuring fruit trees and timber decking area, and a further sunken lawn at the far end.
